About the piece:

I am influenced by modern and postmodern architectural designs and urban spaces, which impact many of my compositions. I use the sketches I draw as the backbone for the music texture and from, aiding in the conceptual process. Many of these sketches include complexity and contradictions that translates in my music sheets into pitch collection, rhythms and other musical elements such as music chords and playing techniques. The shadowing and the line-drawing demonstrate the music pitches and timbre of the Cello. These drawings also reflect my music-analytical statement that deals with the question of the development of a musical motif. In this piece specifically, the narrative is focused on breaking a rhythmic musical theme which expresses an instability mood. The piece structured to be played without rest or movements, but as a short statement, that reflects a short memory with mixed pleasant and unpleasant events.
